Painting

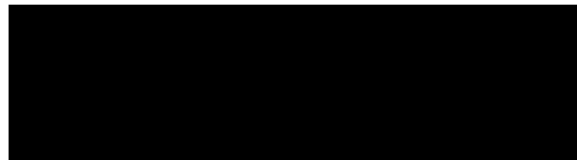

Dear Mr. [REDACTED]:

Reference is made to your letter of 12 November 1953, same subject.

The light green color for the corridor walls will be satisfactory as selected without darker shades for a simulated wainscot. The soiling of the corridor walls is not considered as a serious problem.

The color schedule submitted in your letter is approved with the exception of the #501 Mission white for exterior masonry work, which is assumed to be a cement base paint. After reviewing the Contractor's proposal, dated 19 October 1953, submitted in your letter of 21 October 1953, for substituting cement base paint for alkyd resin paint, a decision was made to reject the proposal and use the alkyd resin emulsion paint as specified.
However, the color will remain white.

Very truly yours,
